PHDP will use surveys, interviews and focus groups to gather data regarding the needs and requirements of a mental health professional endorsement and will focus on gathering data from mental health professionals in schools, as well as other stakeholders such as teachers, principals, parents, and if possible, students. PHDP is subcontracting with two Indiana businesses to gather data from a large sample of mental health professionals across the State of Indiana: Coverdale Consulting (an Indiana WBE) and Diverse Staffing Indianapolis (an Indiana MBE). Diverse Staffing Indianapolis will provide the staff to perform a series of web-based searches for potential respondents using information from the Indiana Department of Education, professionals on sites such as LinkedIn or Psychology Today, and any other lead that arises during the search process. Concurrently, PHDP will reach out the Indiana Association of School Psychologists, Indiana School Counselor Association, and the Indiana Chapter of the National Association of Social Workers, asking them to send out emails and texts to their members on behalf of this project.

Coverdale Consulting will be crafting these messages for both the initial survey and for follow-up interviews to ensure maximum participation. To further encourage participation, respondents will be paid $5 to complete the survey and $20 to participate in an interview. Interviews will be conducted by PHDP leadership and Ms. Carrie Bennett, who is a practicing mental health professional in a school setting, as well as an experienced qualitative researcher, having worked on the Project AWARE Environmental Scan performed by Dr. Rattermann for DMHA. Finally, PHDP staff will travel across the state to interview health care professionals, teachers, parents, and if possible, students at schools that have shown success in providing mental health supports to students. Using the professional connections developed by Dr. Rattermann through her work on Project AWARE, a day long site visit would be performed with the goal of determining what all stakeholders believe are the characteristics of an effective school based mental health professional. Survey and interview protocols will be developed by PHDP staff in collaboration with DMHA, and qualitative and quantitative summary reports will be written by PHDP staff. Progress on the survey and interviews, as well as adherence to the stated goals of diversity, equity and inclusion will be evaluated by Dr. Sharr Pechac on a regular basis.
